World Book Day

Thursday 6th March 2025

On Thursday 6th March, children will be asked to join in with a day of book-related fun.

Usual lessons will step-aside for the day as we focus our energies on the enjoyment of reading and the fun, stimulation and escape which a good book can bring.

We are asking all children to come to school dressed as a character from their favourite book- the more creative, the better!

During the day, all children will take part in one of two book themed scavenger hunts around the school grounds- the two quizzes will see pupils teaming up to answer book related questions whilst keeping active as they race between clues and questions.

Children will also swap teachers for part of the day with all staff venturing to another class to share their favourite stories with either one of their old cohorts or with a future teacher.

Back in class, there will be art related activities- with children designing, sketching and colouring characters in online workshops run by existing author and illustrators.

Alongside this, there will be the chance for children to read to themselves, to each other and to discuss the books they love.

We want reading to be a huge part of you and your children's lives as we know how important reading is in your child's development- as they learn about people, places and social situations. There will be two competitions running throughout the week. The most original and unique costumes on the day will receive book vouchers. Whilst Mr Revell would also like you to put your artistic skills to the test by drawing, collaging or painting a character or set from one of your favourite stories- entries to Mr Revell by the 7th March- awards will be announced in special mentions the following week.

We look forward to seeing your outfits on the day.
